Excelsior Glee Party Well Spoken Of.

The following report of a concert recently given by the Excelsior Glee Party was taken from the Calgary Herald.

A similar concert is being given by the Glee Party in the Didsbury Opera House on Thursday, 6th March. All who can are urged to attend, as the opportunity to hear such talented artists is one that is seldom available in our rural community.

An excellent program which was most enthusiastically received by a large audience was presented on 18th inst. in Wesley United Church, Calgary, by the Excelsior Glee Party, under the leadership of Mr. Glyndwr Jones.

Male part singing, because of its virility and sonorosity of tone, is most satisfying to the ear, and the performance of the gentlemen of the chorus was of a fine order. Mr. Jones and the members of the glee party are to be highly complimented on the success of their first annual concert.

In a number from Verdi's opera "Il Trovatore" Mr. Jones exhibited to a Calgary audience the beautiful quality of his resonant and arresting voice. He has the faculty of feeling intensely what he is singing and making his audience feel with him. He has the power of awaking musical imagination in his hearers, as is evidenced by the rapt attention with which he is listened to.

In no small measure the party's success was due to the qualities of the individual voices. The solo of several of the members of the party were greatly appreciated by the audience. B. O'Riordan in "Una Furtive Lagrima" (Donizetti); Edgar Rhys in "Mountain Lovers" (Squire), and P. P. C. Haigh who is the possessor of a bass voice of exceptional depth and quality in "The Bosom of the Deep."

The programme of the chorus was

Organize Cow Testing Association.

The Didsbury Cow Testing Association was formed Saturday last with a large membership, under the supervision of Mr. A. G. Moore of the Federal Department of Agriculture Cow Testing Branch.

Mr. Moore stated that the meeting was one of the largest he had attended in the province.

Mr. C. W. Gibbs was elected president and Mr. H. A. Brennan secretary for the coming year.

Transportation of the inspector from farm to farm seemed to be a problem. A motion was put to the meeting that "Each farmer take a turn or provided transportation when the inspector is in the district." This motion was carried.

A vote of thanks was tendered to Mr. Moore for his visit to Didsbury.

The association hopes to be actively engaged by the 1st of March and they welcome any others interested in taking up this work.

Varied and well chosen. The "Hymn to Apollo" from "Ulysses," by Gounod, with its dignified harmonies, was well suited to masculine voices, and set the tone for the evening. Their ability to produce soft and even tones was well illustrated in the rendering of the "Londonderry Air" with its smooth, flowing harmonies. Two of the finest numbers on the programme were the concluding choruses "Song of Progress" by Gibb, with Mr. Rintoul as soloist, and "The Crusaders" by Prothero. Both numbers left little to be desired.

The whole performance evidenced the careful workmanship of Mr. Jones. Precision of attack, careful enunciation, clear and sustained tones, well balanced part singing, as well as vivid interpretation, were characteristic of the performance. The versatility of these singers was exemplified in a lighter number, entitled "Italian Salad," a musical jest in the form of a finale.

A New Hope For The World

The five-power naval conference is in session in London, England, as this article is written. It is a momentous gathering, fraught with great possibilities for the good of all mankind. Assembled around the conference table are leading statesmen of Great Britain, United States, France, Italy and Japan, the five greatest naval powers in the world. The British delegation also includes representatives of the self-governing Dominions and India.

The problem confronting these eminent statesmen is to find some basis of agreement whereby a stop can be put to further competitive building of ships for warlike purposes, and, if possible, to provide for a substantial reduction in the number of existing ships by scrapping some now in commission and providing that there shall not be replacement of others when they become old and obsolete.

So worded, the average man would be inclined to say that it should not be a very difficult matter to reach an agreement, but the problem is by no means so simple as it seems to the layman. One country places greater reliance on huge battleships than does another country, others desire many fast cruisers of moderate tonnage, others feel their necessities call for larger cruisers, some want a great number of submarines, while others are prepared to outlaw them altogether. Great Britain is ready to abolish both submarines and the huge battleships, and rely on cruisers of moderate tonnage. The United States is agreeable to the outlawing of the submarine, but still feels the necessity of the big ship. France is opposed to abolishing submarines. And so it goes.

And there is something to be said for each contention. Great Britain has colonies and coaling stations, oil and supply depots all over the world. The moderately sized cruiser will, therefore, fit into her requirements for defence of her great shipping and commerce. But other countries, lacking such re-fuelling and supply depots, feel the need of larger ships, carrying greater quantities of fuel and supplies, so as not to be forced back to home ports too frequently. France is convinced that the submarine is her great arm of naval defence inasmuch as she cannot hope to compete with Britain and the United States in the building and maintenance of large battleships and cruisers.

However, the conference is a hopeful sign of the desire of the nations to lessen the burden of armaments and consequently to decrease the possibility of war. One thing is certain, and that is that the people in all countries are extremely anxious that their leaders should succeed in reaching some unanimous conclusions. They are the ones who have to bear the burden of taxation imposed for these huge armaments; it is their sons who are withdrawn from productive employment to man the navies, and undergo intensive training for possible future slaughter.

The most hopeful feature of the present conference is that it has been preceded by conferences between the nations at which efforts have been made to find common ground, to iron out old differences, to allay old suspicions. The conference may not achieve all that might be hoped for and desired, but if it marks a further advance on the work of the Washington Conference of some years ago, much will be gained, and the way be paved for further reductions and understandings in another few years. Thus step by step will progress be made.

An example of this willingness to consider and appreciate the other fellow's viewpoint and position, instead of ignoring or misrepresenting them, is found in a recent issue of the Philadelphia Evening Bulletin. It states some home truths for its United States readers. To quote in part:

"The salt water, I believe, is freest of all, in peace, within that jurisdiction—the British—where it was formerly (in centuries past) least free. Britain accords the peaceful world, so far as her rights run, complete maritime freedom and equality, even within her own ports and coastal waters. Her port charges are the same to others as to British. Foreign ships may take part in her coastwise trade."

"Her broad theory is that maritime commerce, under whatever flag it may move, holds out some hope of profit to the greatest contemporaneous seafaring peoples. No other nation is of like mind—not the Italian, not the French, not the Japanese, not the American. Our coastwise trade, for example, is reserved rigidly for vessels of American registry, and none other may ply between our home ports and those of our overseas territories."

Recognition of this broad liberty accorded to the shipping of all nations by Britain, as contrasted with the narrower policy adhered to by all other great naval powers, thus openly presented to the readers of a great United States paper, is an indication of that better and more cordial feeling towards Britain now so evident in the neighboring republic. It is because such better feelings do exist, and are growing stronger, that hopes for the success of the present naval conference are so high.

When Food Sours

About two hours after eating many people suffer from sour stomachs. They call it indigestion. It means that the stomach nerves have been over-stimulated. There is excess acid. The way to correct it is with an alkali, which neutralizes many times its volume in acid.

The right way is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia—just a tasteless dose in water. It is pleasant, efficient, and harmless. It has remained the standard with physicians in the 50 years since its invention.

It is the quick method. Results come almost instantly. It is the approved method. You will never use another when you know.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. Each bottle contains full directions—any drugstore.

Canada's Cabinet Ministers

Hon. W. R. Motherwell, Minister of Agriculture, who has just celebrated his seventieth birthday, is the oldest member of the Dominion Cabinet. The youngest is Hon. C. A. Dunning, who at 45 is Minister of Finance. The others are: Postmaster-General Veniot, 66; Minister of Interior, Stewart, 61; Minister of Health, King, 57; Minister of Public Works, Elliott, 57; Prime Minister King, 55; Minister of Labor, Heenan, 54; Minister of Customs, Euler, 54; Minister of Justice, Lapointe, 53; Minister of Railways, Crerar, 53; Minister of Marine, Cardin, 50; Minister of Trade and Commerce, Malcom, 49; Minister of National Defense, Ralston, 48; Secretary of State, Rinfret, 46; Solicitor-General, Canon, 42; Minister of Immigration, Forke, who has just resigned, was 69. Including the last named, this makes an average of about 55 for the seventeen, a figure which for that class of work affords the vigorous age classification.

CAN YOU WITHSTAND RIGORS OF WINTER?

Or Are You Subject To the Many Ills Of This Trying Season?

The rigors of winter sap the vitality of even the strongest. Lack of exercise, overheated rooms and a restricted diet will gradually impoverish the blood and impair the health. That is why you are susceptible to colds—why you find such difficulty in throwing them off.

To be proof against cold, flu or other winter ailments the body must be nourished by rich, red, health-giving blood. A tonic medicine must be taken to build up this rich, red blood. Such a tonic is Dr. Williams' Pink Pills—thousands recommend them as a remarkable blood-builder and winter tonic.

Concerning them Mrs. Jackson Jenkins, Owen Sound, Ont., writes: "After a severe attack of flu I found myself very much run-down. I was advised to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and they fully restored my health and strength. I can heartily recommend these Pills to anyone whose blood is in an impoverished condition."

Start taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills today and see how soon you feel the benefit. They are sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Discover Cancer Serum

Two San Francisco Surgeons May Make Important Contribution To Medical Science

Discovery by two San Francisco surgeons of what they call a "cancer killing serum," was disclosed when it became known that medical agencies of the University of California have decided to co-operate in further experiments with the substance.

The originators, Dr. Walter Bernard Coffey, chief surgeon of the Southern Pacific Hospital, and Dr. John D. Humber, his colleague, specified that the serum was not to be regarded as a cancer cure, but asserted that it was able to kill cancerous tissues.

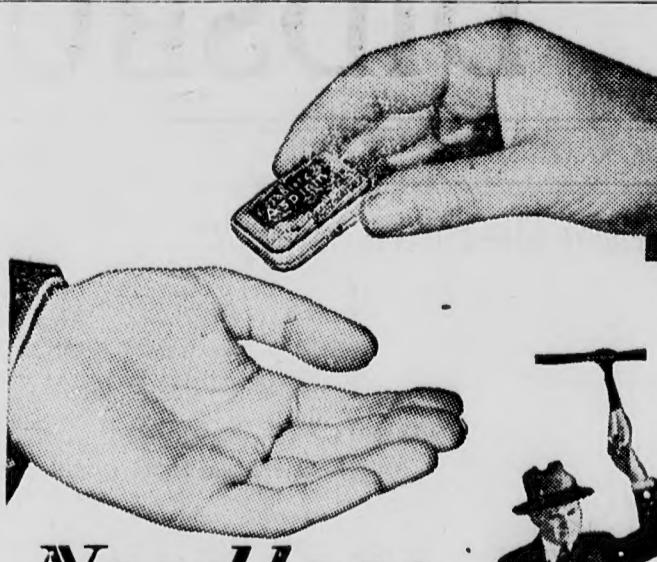

The serum is derived from the outgrowth of the adrenal glands of sheep.

Needless Pain!

Don't be a martyr to unnecessary pain.

Lots of suffering is, indeed, quite needless.

Headaches, for example. They come without warning, but one can always be prepared. Aspirin tablets bring prompt relief. Keep a bottle of them at the office. Carry the small tin in your pocket. Then you won't have to hunt a drugstore, or wait till you get home.

And do not think that Aspirin is only good for headaches, sore throats, and colds! Read the proven directions for relieving neuralgic, neuritic, rheumatic, and other aches and pains. Remembering, of course, that the quick comfort from these tablets is not a cure; for any continued pain, see a doctor.

Purchase genuine Aspirin. Protect yourself by looking for that name. Always the same. Always safe. Never hurts the heart.

Right Hon. Jan Christian Smuts, war hero and leading statesman, during a memorable address in Toronto, said: "I have never learned in long political life to shake off a certain nervous trepidation when I have to face my fellow-men in mass formation. And I am not sure that the political mass formation is not more terrifying than the military formation." No doubt many other public men could tell of similar feelings. The Hon. William Paterson, one of the best known campaign speakers in Canada, told a friend with whom he was discussing his political career, that despite his lengthy experience in addressing public gatherings, if at any meeting just before he arose, somebody had opened a door behind him he would have bolted through the portal.

Canada Is Largest Exporter Of Wheat In the World and Ranks Second In Production

In the comparatively short period of three-score years, Canada has emerged from an insignificant position in world production to that of the largest exporter of wheat, and ranks second (excluding the Russian Soviet Union), as a producer of wheat, raising, on an average, about ten per cent. of the total world production, only the United States exceeding Canada in this regard.

Wheat, and flour were exported from the Dominion during the crop year 1928-29, to nearly 80 countries, the total amounts being 354,424,699 bushels of wheat, and 11,808,775 barrels of flour. Total world exports of wheat and wheat flour, expressed in bushels of wheat, amounted to 1,002,439,000 bushels for the 12 months ended July 31, 1929, of which Canada contributed over 40 per cent.

The British Isles took 209,571,743 bushels of Canadian wheat and 2,637,887 barrels of flour, more than one-half of the total exported. Japan was the Dominion's next best customer of wheat with 22,700,487 bushels; the Netherlands were third with 22,121,680 bushels; Belgium fourth with 16,577,716 bushels; Italy fifth with 15,571,311 bushels, and Germany sixth with 14,693,724 bushels. The other purchasers of Canadian wheat are widely scattered throughout the world.

China was first in the list of consumers of flour with 3,040,667 barrels, surpassing the British Isles which took 2,637,887 barrels as above. Germany stood third with 1,097,289 barrels.

Flour produced from the crop of 1928, made a new record for the flour milling industry in Canada. During the crop year ended July 31 last, wheat ground in commercial flour mills totalled 94,795,316 bushels as compared with 86,842,296 bushels during the crop year 1927-28. This is an increase of over 7,950,000 bushels. Flour produced amounted to 20,893,252 barrels as compared with 18,910,384 barrels for the previous year. This increase amounted to 1,982,868 barrels of flour.

During the same period exports of wheat and flour amounted to 11,808,775 barrels, and 9,865,754 barrels respectively. The increase in exports was 1,943,021 barrels, or practically identical with the increase in flour production.

During the crop year 1928-29, Canada made new records in the production and export of wheat and in the manufacture of wheat flour. In addition to her position in the "wheat field," Canada produces nearly ten per cent of the world's oats, and ranks eighth in cheese production, and fifth in that of butter.

South Africa Says It Has World's Record Milk Producer

South Africa is contesting the claim made in a cable from Ottawa that a Canadian Holstein cow, "Teake Waldorf" is the world's record milk producer. South Africans claim an Orange Free State cow, "Butterfly," produced no less than 30,004 pounds of milk in 365 days, containing 1,254 pounds of butter. The yield is verified by an official government test. Furthermore, there are a number of other cows in South Africa which have surpassed "Teake Waldorf's" record, it is stated.

Grain Elevators In Operation

Saskatchewan Has Four Thousand According To Recent Check

More than 4,000 grain elevators are now in operation in Saskatchewan, according to a check made by G. T. Thomson, who conducted the first inspection of such facilities, a new activity inaugurated as a preliminary to the operation of the new Workmen's Compensation Act. All the modern elevators were found to be provided with safety devices, the first report revealed, though some of the older ones were found to be in need of additional protection equipment.

Taking Safety Measures

Compensation Accidents Are Showing a Considerable Increase In Ontario

A New Year's resolution which we recommend to everyone may be summarized in the expression "Safety First." The advice is not new; it has been given frequently in many shapes, but the necessity for it remains. The Workmen's Compensation Board, of Ontario, for example, reports that during 1929, the accidents coming under its notice numbered 87,103, which was 7,705 more than in 1928, and that benefits awarded amounted to $8,102,157, which was an increase of nearly $1,000,000 over the previous year. These increases, both in number and in benefits are out of all proportion to the growth of population. Industries are not becoming more hazardous nor are there many new ones which, in their nature, make employees more liable to accident. We do not know the reasons for these increases, but it is evident that still more care must be taken in all the trades which come under the jurisdiction of the Workmen's Compensation Board. In other walks of life the number of accidents is probably also increasing. One reason for this is the growing popularity of motors for both passenger and freight services. The streets are far more dangerous than they used to be, and it behoves all to exercise the greatest care in moving along or across them. In urging "Safety First," no one is properly open to the charge of teaching timidity. The fact is that bravado shows lack of common sense whether in trades or other occupations, in sports or in the simplest actions of life. To exercise a fair amount of caution should be a universal rule.—Mail and Empire.

The Brandon Fair

Sixtieth Anniversary Of Entry Into Confederation Will Be Commemorated This Year

Manitoba's sixtieth anniversary of her entry into the confederation will be made the outstanding feature of the provincial exhibition, at Brandon, this year. Directors of the fair have decided to further plans in this connection, and attractions which will add to the occasion are under review.

It is probable that the exhibition will have several stand out attractions over and above the regular programme to be outlined for the association of western Canada exhibitions.

An important item under discussion will be the completion of the racing programme for all western fairs. For the first time, all of the exhibitions have decided to feature only running events, and as a result they will be able to offer inducements to the gallopers and a better balanced programme than previously. The matter of midway shows contracts will also be decided on at the meeting.

The Kansas City Star is at peace with all the world except the English who drive on the wrong side of the road, can't spell tires, call gasoline petrol, and call a radio set a wireless.

However, we doubt whether the English will be much moved in view of the fact that the editor of the Star drives on the wrong side of the road, can't spell tyres, calls petrol gas, and calls a wireless a radio set.

Mechanizing the Farm

66,220 Tractors Now In Use In the Prairie Provinces

Though the popularity of "Old Dobbin," as the farm horse is affectionately known, continues to hold a prominent place on the farms of Canada, the "Iron Horse," or the mechanical farm implement, is advancing in popularity, particularly among farmers in the three Prairie Provinces—Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta. There are, according to a recent estimate, a total of 66,220 tractors, in operation on the 248,162 Canadian prairie farms, 14,557 of which were bought last year. In Manitoba there are 12,346; in Saskatchewan, 35,083; and in Alberta, 18,791 farm tractors.

The total of harvester-combines in use on the Prairies at the end of 1929, was 7,726, of which 3,295 were bought last year. In 1926 only 176 harvester-combines were sold. The following year the sales were 598. In 1928 they jumped to 3,657, an increase over the previous year of 611 per cent. Sales of threshers in the three Prairie Provinces last year totalled 2,095.

Canada Popular With Tourists

About Nine Million People From U.S. Visited Dominion Last Year

The growing popularity of Canada among tourists is indicated by the recent official estimate that about 9,000,000 persons from the United States visited the Dominion last year. Of this number 250,000 visited the national parks of Canada. Canada maintains 23 national parks and reserves located in different parts of the country with a total area of over 29,000 square miles. In these parks the outstanding natural beauties and wild life are presented. Hunting of game is forbidden and any visitor entering one of the parks or reserves with a gun must submit to having it sealed before entering.

Saskatoon Exhibition Surplus

Date Of Exhibition For This Year Fixed For July 21 to 26

A surplus of $10,667.23 is reported by the Saskatoon Industrial Exhibition Board covering operations in 1929. This is considered very satisfactory in view of crop conditions at the time of the fair. The year featured large increases in exhibits of live stock, agricultural and industrial products, and the erection of three new buildings in the grounds. This year the date of the exhibition is fixed for July 21st to 26th.

Old Timer Retires

Back in 1882 when the Canadian Pacific Railway was pushing through the bush in Northern Ontario on its way across the continent, this old-time engine did a lot of good work and it was fired by James T. Fallon, who had joined the road three years previously. On the last day of 1929, Fallon, for over forty years an engineer, closed more than fifty years of railroad service. His picture is inset with that of the old locomotive, No. 222, sister to the one on which he worked as a youth.

Adequate regulation of the production of oil and gas in Turner Valley is recommended by the conservation commission appointed last year by the Federal Government. The commission has reported to the government and the report has been made public. The members of the commission were Dr. Charles Camsell, deputy minister of mines; A. W. G. Wilson, Charles Ross, R. C. Wallace and A. A. Carpenter.

After pointing out that the wastage of gas in Turner Valley now approximates 200,000 cubic feet per day, was equal to 9,000 tons of high grade coal, the report states the position as follows:

"It is obvious that in the Turner Valley present operations are rapidly and wastefully dissipating a great natural resource only about 10 per cent. of which is usefully employed. This wastage takes place through the operations under license of about 40 producing companies. It is probable that the number of producers will be increased shortly and that the wastage also will increase. Only about 30 per cent. of the area is operated under government license, the mining right of about 70 per cent. having been alienated from the crown many years ago.

"These producers are primarily interested in obtaining as great a naphtha recovery as possible in as short a time as possible. No voluntary steps of consequence have been taken to curtail wastages or to prolong the lives of the wells. While it may be to the advantage of the individual producer to obtain quick return from his investment, it is decidedly not in the national interest, nor is it in the ultimate interest of the producer himself to permit this rapid dissipation without utilization of a great national asset for the immediate benefit of a few."

In regard to a solution, the report recommends:

"The only solution which will make conservation possible is recognition of the fact that Turner Valley is a gas field and the formulation of rigid regulations for the purpose of controlling all phases of the gas producing industry. If existing legislation is not adequate to protect the public interest it should be redrafted to meet the situation. These regulations should be administered uniformly by one body representing both federal and provincial parliaments. This is the first and most important step to be taken. Other measures can only be palliative. This action is also a prime essential to the further development of industries based on the presence of this gas supply in Alberta.

"Without regulation and without control of production, industries cannot be assured of an adequate supply of gas over a period of time long enough to warrant essential capital investments. New supply is not only to investments in the new distributing pipe lines but also to investment in manufacturing industries using natural gas and to the development of industry based on chemical and metallurgical research. If adequate regulation is provided a limited industrial development will result."

Canada's Progress Phenomenal

Characterizing Canada's developments during the twentieth century as relatively the most phenomenal the world has ever known, exceeding even the unprecedented development of the United States in the nineteenth century, Col. J. H. Woods, Calgary, president of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, delivered an inspiring address on the country's future development at a banquet of the Woodstock Board of Trade.

TRACKWAYS BILL

Though rejected by the Alberta legislature last year by a vote of 18 in favor to 35 against, the Trackways bill, sponsored by A. B. Claypool, M.L.A., is again before the house. It is felt on behalf of the promoters that there was some misunderstanding last session and that the bill will receive far greater support with the probability of carrying this time.

If the bill is approved, then a company will be incorporated for the purpose of building a concrete road between Calgary and the entrance to Banff national park. There is no doubt that the proposal is worthy of strong support, as it will supply a need that the public cannot afford to undertake out of taxation. It is estimated that the cost of such permanent construction would be $40,000 per mile.

Those supporting the bill point out the large cost involved by building the road out of public funds. They claim that in the United States, farmers with property along these publicly built super-highways are paying as high as $2.00 per acre in maintenance taxation.

There is no doubt of the heavy traffic on the Calgary to Banff highway, and of its steadily increasing from all directions. Such a trackway as that proposed by the company would relieve the public highway to a great extent, both in congestion and in maintenance costs during the year. It is estimated that the projected road could be completed this year in time for use in 1931.—Good Roads.

ALBERTA MOUTH HEALTH CAMPAIGN

It is already too late for many of those who have reached adult years to have more than remedial work done upon their teeth, but it is not so with the children and particularly with those of pre-school age. It is here that preventive dentistry can be practised with the most lasting benefits both to the individual and the state. With the idea of saving the men and women of tomorrow from the suffering and diseases of the present generation the gospel of preventive dentistry is being carried to the homes and schools of Alberta.

The campaign is being conducted by the Canadian Dental Hygiene Council, working in co-operation with the Department of Health and the Department of Education of the Province, and the Alberta Dental Association. The province has been divided into 22 districts for the purpose of organization of this great campaign.

Preventive dentistry does not mean visits to the dentist's office. It is

A CHEMICAL RESEARCH MIRACLE

A chemistry professor at Johns Hopkins' University announces a way has been found to eliminate deadly carbon monoxide gas from automobile exhaust fumes. Certain tests have been made which seem to show that an automobile equipped with the newly discovered agency can be left indefinitely in a closed garage with the engine running without liberating certain monoxide or any other gas dangerous to human life.

If this were applied universally to automobiles, it would make asphyxiation from exhaust gases impossible. Also, it would keep this poison from going into the atmosphere and affecting plants and people.

The process is based, it is said, on the action of certain chemicals through which the gas fumes pass on their way to the exhaust.

RED CROSS ANNUAL MEETING

The main feature under discussion at the annual meeting of the Alberta Red Cross Society, which was held in Calgary on Saturday, the 15th February, was the definite need for greater support if the Society is to continue to exist in this Province. The financial statement presented to the meeting showed a deficit on last year's operations of $13,500.00, and as there is no capital fund from which the Society can draw, it is obviously impossible for this to be continued. In consequence, the Executive made drastic reductions all the way along the line, and presented a budget calling for an expenditure of nearly $12,000.00 less than in 1929. The work of the Division has been on an economical basis, and therefore the cuts that were made were very largely made in the services which have been rendered. Despite these cuts, the Division is facing a deficit of $5,000.00 at the end of 1930 unless the revenue for 1930 can be increased by this amount over that received in 1929, hence the definite appeal which was made at the annual meeting for greater support.

The reports which were read at the meeting by the Commissioner showed a really splendid work done during 1929. 180 crippled children were treated in the two hospitals in Calgary and Edmonton and as a matter of fact over $31,000 was spent by Red Cross on crippled children's work in 1929. Of these 180 children, nearly half were orthopaedic cases, requiring long hospitalization. These children came from 97 different points in the province and represented 20 different nationalities, giving some idea of the wideness of the work. The Junior Red Cross work showed a remarkable increase of 6,000 members, bringing the total to just under 38,000 enrolled as Junior Red Cross members, in 1460 branches throughout the province. There is no question that the work which is being done in connection with the three aims of the Junior Red Cross—Health, Citizenship, and Service—is truly an admirable one. The Outpost Hospital at Pouc Coupé had another successful year with 224 admissions and over 3,300 hospital days, there being 38 births in the hospital during the year. The Health Service through the radio broadcasts each week has proved a very popular feature, and during the last four months over 30 patchwork quilts and some 750 garments were made by radio listeners-in, and sent in to the Red Cross offices in Edmonton.

One could not listen to the reports which were given at the annual meeting without realising that the work that is being done is of real value to the life of the people of this province, and it would be a most unfortunate thing if because of the lack of a comparatively small additional amount of financial support, Red Cross had in any way to stop operation. If the Alberta Division does not carry on this work, it will be the first province across Canada to break the continuity of the work which is being done by Red Cross, and it is hoped that the citizens of Alberta will take sufficient pride in the work which has been done by this Division to make sure that adequate support is given during the coming year. Ten cents per head of the population would be sufficient to carry Red Cross in this province, but the difficulty is to get that ten cents. Let everyone do their part in at least sending in their membership fee of $1 and doing their utmost in connection with any local activities which may be attempted in support of the work.

Manitoba Fruit

Commercial Fruit Growing Now Placed On a Profitable Basis

Fruit growing on the plains of Manitoba is to be placed on a profitable basis, according to the marketing report tendered by Mrs. S. M. Loree, of Carman, Manitoba, at the annual convention of the United Farmers of Manitoba, recently. Prospective fruit growers will be afforded accurate statistics on the yields and hardiness of crops. Demonstration orchards in various parts of the province were established some time ago, said Mrs. Loree, but the reorganization work of the coming spring is expected to yield definite results. Apples, plums, strawberries, raspberries and currants are now produced commercially by about a dozen growers.

Important Factor In Airplane Of Future

Manufacturers Turning Their Attention To Building Safer Machines

Much is expected of what has been popularly described as a "fool proof" aeroplane that has come into existence with an award of a prize of $100,000 following an exhaustive series of tests at Mitchel Field, outside New York City. The conclusion of these tests and the awarding of the prize is held to mark another forward step of great importance in aviation. Quantity production of high-speed machines was the natural consequence of the solo flight of Charles Lindbergh, from New York to Paris, and it is only within a comparatively recent period that aeroplane manufacturers have turned their attention to the element of safety as an outstandingly important factor in the aeroplane of the future.

There has been no divulgence of the details of the performance of the winning machine beyond the fact that it has a minimum gliding speed of 38 miles an hour. That a machine can loaf along at what is a medium road rate for a motor car indicates what amazing advances have been made in the safety of aeroplane operation.

And it may be assumed that once the aeroplane is so made that its operation is approximately as safe as the motor car, people will take to the sky in much larger numbers than at present.—Regina Daily Post.

An out-door museum extending along the rights-of-way of railway lines in Western Canada in which concrete casts of the skeletons of dinosaurs, mammoths and mastodons would stand has been suggested by a member of the National Museum staff, Ottawa. The creation of such an out-door museum would serve as a monument to strange beasts which roamed parts of Canada millions of years ago, the official thinks and would, besides, be unique as an attraction to tourists travelling the railways.

A Valuable Discovery

Carbon Monoxide Menace Can Be Eliminated Claims Professor Of Chemistry

The announcement from Johns Hopkins University that a means has been discovered to eliminate carbon monoxide from motor exhausts comes at a moment when the health department of nearly every large city is concentrating on this problem. Health officials of New York City recently began analyses of the air in the city's streets, seeking the carbon monoxide content, as a preliminary to some kind of a protective or remedial campaign.

Here and in other cities was the mounting record of hundreds of deaths annually, and authentic medical testimony that these accumulating poisons were fouling the air and endangering public health.

Dr. J. C. W. Frazer, Johns Hopkins professor of chemistry, discoverer of the method which makes a closed garage safe for democracy, has for many years been known as one of America's foremost authorities in the field of catalysis, and it was by the use of a catalyst that he learned how to make carbon monoxide behave. A catalyst, the chemists explain, is a manager and introducer which brings together aloof elements.

Carbon monoxide, issuing from a motor exhaust and occasionally killing somebody, needs just a touch of oxygen to become as harmless as a church warden. This oxygen was available in the air, but wasn't even on speaking terms with carbon monoxide.

Dr. Frazer's catalyst lured an atom of oxygen from the air, teamed it up with the carbon monoxide and the resulting carbon dioxide was safe for breathing. One may close the garage doors, turn on the engine, go to sleep under the car and live to tell the tale.

The catalyst—and Dr. Frazer does not tell what it is—is like the old-time bartender who never took a drink. It sets up new chemical equations, but never takes any part in them.

"It's so good of you, doctor, to have come this far to see my husband."

"Not at all, madam, not at all. I have a patient next door and I thought I'd kill two birds with one stone."

CHAPTER I.

Doctor Edward Howe, Wickfield's beloved and venerable physician, stopped his car before the old Davis house, while a girl who was vigorously polishing the sidelights by the wide front door turned from her perch on a low stepladder and waved a greeting. The doctor glanced at his watch, and deciding that there was time for a moment's relaxation, got slowly out, threw a smile to Grandma Davis who was at the window, and sat down on the porch below the girl.

"Th's big house makes you a sight of work, Charmian Davis."

Charmian turned, dropped her polishing cloth and took a seat on the stepladder.

"I suppose it does; but somehow I don't mind—it's such a beautiful house. I like to remember that my father and grandfather were born here, where I was born myself. This old house seems—well—perhaps you'll laugh at me, Doctor, but the house seems just as much a part of me as do my ancestors."

But the doctor didn't laugh. He looked up at the shin'ing brass knocker on the door, put there three generations before by Luther Davis—to the beautiful fanlight above it, and at the small-paned windows of long ago. Then his glance strayed from the century-old elm at one corner of the house to the mammoth syringa bush (the pride of the village as well as of Grandma Davis), at the other, and he understood and sympathized with the girl's loyalty to the home of her forefathers.

Charmian was right. It was a beautiful old house. It stood a fair rod from the street, though it was built in the days when most Wickfield dwellings were set flush with the sidewalk. Charmian's great-great-grandfather had explained (when curious neighbors commented on this fact), that he was unwilling to sacrifice the young elm tree but most of his questioners suspected that the underlying reason for this unusual proceeding was because great-great-grandma Davis "hated dust."

This, at least, was the story that had come down to Charmian, who declared that if her great-great-grandmother could have foretold the dust of the present day with automobiles passing at forty miles an hour, she would have set her mansion in what was then the cow pasture!

"But if she had," commented Grandma Davis wisely, "it wouldn't have been near so handy for the shop."

Charmian smiled. The shop, which was once the honored parlor of the old Davis house, was an innovation against which Grandma had bitterly rebelled when it was first suggested by Charmian's widowed mother. At that time Charmian was but a little maid of six, yet she remembered vividly the battle that took place before Grandma Davis capitulated to her daughter-in-law's irrefutable argument that it was more honorable for a Davis to run a shop in the best room than to go into debt.

She remembered also the day when the fine imported carpet was removed, and the contents of the highboy taken "up attic" in order to make room for the rolls of calico—the spools of silk and cotton—the pins and needles—bright worsteds and other fascinating odds and ends which were to be paid for "by installment," whatever that was.

Wickfield was in sore need of a dry goods store, for Henry Oldham, who had run the general store for forty years, rarely replenished his stock, and one had to drive clear to Eastboro in order to match a skein of yarn!

Hence the neighbors, after a moment's shocked surprise, welcomed the thought of buying their fancy goods of Charmian's mother; and as Grandma grew older, the little shop, against which she had fought so valiantly, became her greatest source of entertainment.

Charmian was fifteen when her mother died, but she managed to finish high school, to go to the State Normal at Eastboro, and keep house for Grandma, while the old lady sat contentedly in the front window and waited on occasional customers, unless, as was usually the case, they could at Grandma's, not only to help her out, but to make an excuse for running in to chat during the long days when Charmian was away at school. If, nineteen years before, Wickfield had been shocked at the thought of shop in Lawyer Davis's best room, it had long since become as accustomed to it as had Grandma herself; though at times the old lady wondered, with an inner chuckle, what her husband's father was thinking as he viewed the change from his mansion in the Eternal City.

For Roger Davis had been a lawyer—a man of education. His office, a small, one-story building, still stood across the drive that led to the big barn. He had been what in those days was called "a scholar and a gentleman," but, although he sent his son to college, "Grandpa Davis," after a year of reading law in his father's office, had "gone back to the land"; and being more of a dreamer than a worker, he left the old place rather worse off than when he fell heir to it. For he had found it pleasanter as well as easier, to let his horses rest when they should have been dragging the plow, while he feasted his beauty-loving eyes on the hills that surrounded Wickfield on every side, and composed "poetry."

Grandma was very proud of Grandma's poems. Once one of them was printed in the Eastboro "Telegraph," and the minister read it from the pulpit. That was a proud day for Grandma Davis. She still kept a clipping of the poem between the pages of her Bible, and read it every night after she said her prayers. To her loyal heart it was a legacy more beautiful than gold or precious stones.

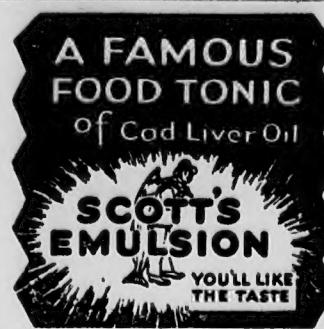

"Well," responded Ezra, good-naturedly, "there's no accounting for taste. Now the first thing Emmy wanted when we married, was for me to yank those small-paned windows out o' the old house, and put in new ones. She's kept at me ever since, and at last I've done it; and I will say, Grandma, that they look handsome. But that city feller, who's living down at Irving Plummer's, acted like I'd broke all ten commandments when I suggested changin' the windows along with the other improvements he's put in. No, there's no accounting for taste. He bought the place and furnishings as they stood, and he's give Hetty Plummer's golden oak extension table, the one she sent clear to Portland for, to his hired man, and he's usin' an old mahogany drop-leaf that Grandma Plummer kep' her preserves on in the cellar!"

"Do tell!"
"Yes, ma'am," replied Ezra, moving toward the door, "that's Gospel truth, or may I be struck dead where I stand."

He felt in his pocket for his cap, and drew out a scrap of bright blue silk.

"Gorry! I clean forgot what I was here for. Emmy wants a spool o'silk to match this sample. She's makin' her new waist to wear to the strawberry festival."

"Let's see," said Grandma eagerly, stretching out a hand for the sample.

That's real pretty. Emmy always did look best in blue, even when she was a baby. You open the top drawer, Ezra, and find a spool to match."

"Emmy said," hesitated Ezra, like a well-trained husband, "that I was to let Charmian pick it out. She says I ain't got an eye for color."

Grandma chuckled.

"And I suppose she won't trust me, either. I doona as I blame her. My eyes are getting old along with the rest of me. Charmian's up attic. You whistle at the back stairs and she'll come down. There! she's coming now. 'Dearie,' she called, 'you come right here. Emmy Bascomb wants you should pick out a spool o' silk to match her waist. Seems to me I remember the blues are getting sort of low."

Yes, the little shop had been Grandma's unfailing source of entertainment for many years. Even when with the invasion of automobiles, Eastboro became more accessible, the neighbors did what shopping they could at Grandma's, not only to help her out, but to make an excuse for running in to chat during the long days when Charmian was away at school. If, nineteen years before, Wickfield had been shocked at the thought of shop in Lawyer Davis's best room, it had long since become as accustomed to it as had Grandma herself; though at times the old lady wondered, with an inner chuckle, what her husband's father was thinking as he viewed the change from his mansion in the Eternal City.

Whaling Up-To-Date

Airplanes Being Used As Scouts By Norwegian Fleet

A Norwegian whaling fleet now at work off the ice banks of the Antarctic is accompanied by two aeroplanes which are being used to scout for schools of whales. It has been found that in certain years the whales are much more difficult to find than in others; in fact, they seem practically to disappear, and it is hoped that the aeroplane with its greater mobility and wide range of vision will be able to help in solving the problem. The machines can be equipped with three sets of landing gear: wheels for landing on the deck of the "mother" vessel, pontoons for the water, and skis for the ice. A wireless "there she blows" will summon the fleet when the aeroplanes sight their quarry.

When in the crises of your duty the way of peace and right summons you with its sweet compulsion, it is the call of the Eternal Right making itself heard in your wakening soul. It is the summons of God through the voice of duty. The life of God and the life of man are all interwoven in the web of human experiences.—Francis G. Peabody.

IF THERE IS A BABY IN YOUR HOME

There Also Should Be a Box Of
Baby's Own Tablets

To keep her little ones well is the constant aim of every mother and to help her in this task she should always keep a box of Baby's Own Tablets in the home. These Tablets have saved many little lives when illness came on suddenly.

The majority of troubles which afflict little ones are those which arise from a disordered condition of the stomach and bowels. It is in quickly correcting these disorders that Baby's Own Tablets show their value. They banish constipation and indigestion; correct colic and diarrhea; break up colds and simple fevers and allay teething pains. Concerning the Tablets Mrs. E. Roberts, Cap au Os, Que., writes:—"I always keep Baby's Own Tablets in the house as I know of nothing to equal them for little ones."

The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Seven Hundred Mile Line

Length Of Surveyed Boundary Between Alberta and Saskatchewan

The boundary between Alberta and Saskatchewan is the Fourth Meridian of the Dominion Lands survey system, which coincides approximately with the 110th meridian of west longitude and under instructions from the Surveyor-General, Department of the Interior, has been surveyed from the International Boundary northerly to Lake Athabasca, a distance in a straight line of nearly seven hundred miles, constituting one of the longest surveyed straight lines in the world.

Miller's Worm Powders will eradicate the worm evil that bears so heavily on children and is believed to cause many fatalities. They are an acceptable medicine to children and can be fully relied upon to clear the food channels thoroughly of these destructive parasites and restore the inflamed and painful surfaces to healthfulness. They are an excellent remedy for these evils.

A Remarkable Exhibit

Edmonton Has Fine Display Of Northern Grains and Grasses

Grown 300 miles north of Edmonton, as the crow flies, at the Dominion Experimental Farm, at Fort Vermilion, Alberta, on the Peace River, a most remarkable display of grains and grasses of last season's crop are on display at the Edmonton Chamber of Commerce.

Exhibits include thirteen varieties of wheat grown in experimental plots; eight of oats, five of barley, two of flax and two of rye. The wheat includes such well known varieties as Garnet, Red Fife, Marquis, etc., and the oats include Banner, Leader, Victory and two varieties of hull-less oats—Laurel and Liberty.

Twelve of the 13 varieties of wheat sown April 30, the other, Marquis, May 8. Three of the varieties were cut August 15; significant that Marquis, sown eight days later than all the other varieties ripened as rapidly as two others sown eight days earlier—Kitchener and Red Fife.

All samples are of excellent quality, with strong root growth, sturdy stands and plump, well-filled heads, with heads ripened perfectly.

RUGBY NOTES

One evening last week the Cheer Up ball team braved the snowdrifts and journeyed to play with the Happy Circle Club at Elkton, the latter put up a good game but Rugby came out ahead with a score of 6 to 4.

On Monday evening the Melvin Go-getters came to Rugby to play. A large crowd was present and a very exciting time ensued. We fear some of the spectators were a little hoarse next morning. Rugby was again victorious with 7 goal to Melvin's 3. Where do we go from here.
